31/... Question of the realization in all countries of economic, social and cultural rights

The Human Rights Council,

Guided by the principles of economic, social and cultural rights enshrined in international human rights instruments, including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights,

Recalling that the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action, the 2005 World Summit Outcome and General Assembly resolution 60/251 of 15 March 2006, in which the Assembly established the Human Rights Council, all affirm that all human rights are universal, indivisible, interrelated, interdependent and mutually reinforcing and must be treated in a fair and equal manner, on the same footing and with the same emphasis, and recalling also that the promotion and protection of one category of rights should never exempt States from the promotion and protection of the other rights,

Recalling also the United Nations Millennium Declaration, in which the heads of State and Government affirmed their commitment to spare no effort to promote democracy and strengthen the rule of law and respect for all internationally recognized human rights and fundamental freedoms, including the right to development,

Recalling further its resolutions on the question of the realization in all countries of economic, social and cultural rights, and the resolutions adopted by the Commission on Human Rights on the same topic,

* Non-member State of the Human Rights Council.

Reaffirming the obligations and commitments to take steps, individually and through international assistance and cooperation, especially economic and technical, to the maximum of available resources with a view to achieving progressively the full realization of economic, social and cultural rights by all appropriate means, including particularly the adoption of legislative measures,

Underlining the human rights principles of, inter alia, non-discrimination, human dignity, equity, equality, universality and participation, as affirmed in international human rights law and in the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action, and emphasizing that the rights enunciated in the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights are to be realized in a non-discriminatory manner,

Welcoming the initiatives undertaken to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights in 2016,

Recalling the commitment included in the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights to ensure the equal right of men and women to the enjoyment of all economic, social and cultural rights set forth in the Covenant,

Recognizing that human rights and social protection floors complement each other, and that social protection floors, when used as a baseline, have the potential to facilitate the enjoyment of economic, social and cultural rights and to reduce poverty and inequality,

Welcoming the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development by the General Assembly in its resolution 70/1 on 25 September 2015, in which the Assembly adopted a comprehensive, far-reaching and people-centred set of universal and transformative sustainable development goals and targets, and aiming to contribute to full implementation of the Agenda by 2030,

Welcoming also the Addis Ababa Action Agenda of the Third International Conference on Financing for Development, adopted by the General Assembly in its resolution 69/313 of 27 July 2015, which is an integral part of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, supports and complements it and helps to contextualize its means of implementation targets with concrete policies and actions, and which reaffirmed the strong political commitment to address the challenge of financing and creating an enabling environment at all levels for sustainable development in the spirit of global partnership and solidarity,

1. Calls upon all States to give full effect to economic, social and cultural rights by, inter alia, taking all appropriate measures to implement the Human Rights Council resolutions on the question of the realization in all countries of economic, social and cultural rights, the most recent of which is resolution 28/12 of 26 March 2015;

2. Also calls upon all States that have not yet signed and ratified the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights to consider doing so as a matter of priority, and States parties to consider reviewing their reservations thereto;

3. Welcomes the more recent ratification of the Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, and encourages all States that have not yet signed and ratified the Optional Protocol to consider doing so, and also to consider making declarations under articles 10 and 11 thereof;

4. Acknowledges that social protection floors may facilitate the enjoyment of human rights, including the rights to social security, the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health, an adequate standard of living, including adequate food, clothing and housing, education, and safe drinking water and sanitation, in accordance with the human rights obligations of States, and in this regard underlines the importance of compliance with the principles of non-discrimination, transparency, participation and accountability;

5. Takes note with appreciation of the report of the Secretary-General on the question of the realization in all countries of economic, social and cultural rights, with a special focus on the methodologies used at the national level to measure the realization of economic, social and cultural rights, submitted pursuant to Human Rights Council resolution 28/12,[1] and of the conclusions contained therein;

6. Recognizes that reliable information and disaggregated data are important for the assessment of progress or regression in the realization of economic, social and cultural rights, and can help to support the development of laws, policies and programmes to help States to meet their human rights obligations;

7. Acknowledges the importance of measuring progress in the realization of economic, social and cultural rights, and that human rights measurement can contribute positively to the implementation by States of their obligations, including in the context of their interaction with international human rights mechanisms, including regarding their obligations with the treaty bodies and the universal periodic review;

8. Also acknowledges that systematic and coherent mechanisms for measuring progress in respect of each State on the realization of economic, social and cultural rights, when fully in line with human rights standards and principles, can make policies, programmes and budgeting processes more efficient and help to improve State reporting on their implementation of those human rights obligations;

9. Urges States to consider adopting, or further developing, procedures for information gathering and measurement which may, if analysed in the light of human rights standards, serve as national indicators for State decision-making processes, and are transparent, participatory and allow for accountability;

10. Underlines the importance of an effective remedy for violations of economic, social and cultural rights, and in this regard takes note with appreciation of measures taken to facilitate access to complaints procedures and the domestic adjudication of cases, as appropriate, for victims of alleged human rights violations;

11. Welcomes the steps taken at the national level to implement economic, social and cultural rights, including the enactment of appropriate legislation and adjudication by national courts;

12. Recognizes that the 17 Sustainable Development Goals and 169 targets seek to, inter alia, realize the human rights of all and to achieve gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls, and that they are integrated and indivisible and balance the three dimensions of sustainable development, namely, the economic, the social and the environmental;

13. Notes with interest the work carried out by the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights to assist States parties in fulfilling their obligations, including through the submission of general comments, the consideration of periodic reports and, for States parties to the Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, the examination of individual communications;

14. Also notes with interest the work of other relevant treaty bodies and special procedures in the promotion and protection of economic, social and cultural rights within their respective mandates;

[1] A/HRC/31/31.

15. Encourages enhanced cooperation and, as appropriate, increased coordination between the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and United Nations bodies, specialized agencies and programmes, mechanisms of the Human Rights Council and other human rights treaty bodies whose activities have a bearing on economic, social and cultural rights in a manner that respects their distinctive mandates and promotes their policies, programmes and projects;

16. Recognizes and encourages the important contributions of regional organizations, national human rights institutions and civil society, including nongovernmental organizations, academic and research institutions, business enterprises and trade unions to the question of the realization and enjoyment of economic, social and cultural rights, including training and information activities;

17. Welcomes the activities carried out by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights on the promotion of economic, social and cultural rights, mainly through technical cooperation, the work of its field offices, its relevant reports to United Nations bodies, the development of in-house expertise, including on human rights indicators, and its publications, studies, training and information activities on related issues, including through new information technologies;

18. Requests the Secretary-General to continue to prepare and submit to the Human Rights Council an annual report on the question of the realization in all countries of economic, social and cultural rights under agenda item 3, with a special focus on the realization of economic, social and cultural rights in the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;

19. Decides to remain seized of this issue and to consider taking further action in order to implement the present resolution.
